

Logging Into the William Jewell Proxy

If you are trying to access Curry Library e-resources off campus you will eventually see this login popup:

William Jewell College

Remote Access via Proxy Server

You have requested access to a site that is licensed by William Jewell College for use by its students, faculty, and staff. In order to access these databases you must first log on to the Curry Library proxy server with your William Jewell User Name and Password (current campus email account) in order to validate your status as a current student, faculty or staff.

Note Your username is not your full email address. For Example if your email address is WJStudent@william.jewell.edu then your username is WJStudent.

If you have a William Jewell email account and have problems logging into the proxy server or need to set up a William Jewell email account, please contact Information Services (816-415-5942). If you have verified that your email account is working correctly and are still having problems contact Curry Library (816-415-7610) after 4pm contact Pryor Learning Commons(816-415-7613).

Please enter your username:

Please enter your password:

For this, please enter your normal e-mail/Jewell Central login credentials.

Example:

Username: SmithJ.19

Password: 1234

After clicking Submit you should be able to search through all Curry Library e-resource.

If you have any difficulties logging in please contact Peter Johnson (Access Services and Resource Librarian).
